The President's Message

DILLARD UNIVERSITY
NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA 70122

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

Fellow-Students:

1968-69 has been a very significant year for Dillard. We have reached our one hundredth year with a degree of pride and satisfaction; but also with the knowledge that all during the years the University was ever striving to be better. With the full co-operation of students, faculty and trustees, we are completing the Study for the Future which was begun five years ago. Many of the recommendations of this Study are already being implemented and machinery is established for continuing implementation. The ground work is laid for an even better educational program and for improved student services. But this will require the full co-operation of the entire campus community. There will never be a time when Dillard is as good as we all want it to be. So we must continue to strive for the best of everything now and in the future.

Our quite adequate new Health and Physical Education Building is under construction. Very soon ground will be broken for two new air-conditioned dormitories. There are other plant needs, particularly, a new building to house Art, Drama and Music. I hope this building will not be very far off.

For those of you who will depart from the campus, along with me, at the end of this year, I wish a full life ahead filled with happiness and success; and that you will realize that Dillard will always need your concern and your support.

For those of you who will remain, I implore you to give your very best thought and effort to the continuing development of the University into the kind of institution that will serve the largest possible changing needs of succeeding generations of Dillard men and women.

Cordially yours,

A. W. Dent
President

IN SEARCH OF A NEW DIRECTION

An editorial in the Dillard newspaper stated that after over twenty-five years of service, Dr. Albert W. Dent will vacate the presidency of the university and leave behind 1000 "colored children" who are lost, afraid and ignorant of the right pathway. We hope that the Dillard student will refute this challenge and carry the burden of blackness with pride and determination to make Dillard University a truly "black" institution.

This book is dedicated to the Dillard student — Black, Strong and Determined to Prevail.

SALUTE —

To Dr. Albert W. Dent, who has served as President of Dillard University for over twenty-five years. Through his dedicated service and diligent strivings on behalf of the university, Dillard has achieved national prominence among institutions of higher learning. It is hoped that the progress that he has made during his tenure will continue through the work of his successor. Since the university stands as a permanent memorial to his achievements here, in the next pages will focus on other highlights in the distinguished career of Dr. Albert W. Dent.

The Dillard Players' Guild is one of the small number of groups at predominantly black universities, in New Orleans and the South, doing drama on a consistent scale particularly relevant to black people. Individuals and groups at other universities in the city continue to invite the DPG to their campuses to perform because of the relevancy as well as the proficiency of its productions. The reputation of the DPG has continued to spiral since 1965 and now extends throughout and outside the state of Louisiana.

Student Protest

The first semester of the 1968-69 school year was marked by unprecedented protest and the presentation of a series of demands for reforms to the president of the university. Indignation over the "resignation" of last year's Dean of Students, Rev. Robert L. Polk, and a desire to assert fully their blackness had top priority among the students' concerns. Student leaders asserted that the Dillard student was being mentally hanged and castrated by the high-handed tactics of the administration. Among other demands were the need for a curriculum revision relevant to blacks, more and better black instructors and less white faculty, better housing and food service, and extended curfews for women. The protest developed into a demonstration of student solidarity that eventually brought about a confrontation between the President of the university and the student body. Thus, Dillard was added to the list of colleges and universities across the nation experiencing the thrust of a new, revolutionary mood in young people seeking to face more realistically the challenges to their future as Americans.

"You started it, now you finish it!"

"Are we going to burn it or aren't we?"

"And we won't take no for an answer!"

"Rev. Polk, (R) last year's popular Dean of Students, confers with student leaders."

"Did you get a requisition for this?" The cafeteria after students demonstrated to display solidarity.

"Wake up students - that's you."

"AAP head Dean Irby addresses students."

"You must be kidding."

Drama At Dillard

Responding to the black cultural revolution taking place in the arts today, the Dillard Players' Guild devoted its entire season to black theatre. Beginning with the completed version of El Hajj Malik by N. R. Davidson, Jr., the Guild presented Errol John's Moon on a Rainbow Shawl in an adaptation set in New Orleans by Davidson, then three one acts from the new black theatre noted on page 103. The latter production was part of the Second Annual Afro-American Festival of Arts. When the yearbook went to press, plans were being considered to produce either an African classic or a new play by a new black playwright. This new direction on the part of the Guild is not simply a gesture toward black arts but the only sane direction of a drama department seeking to be relevant to a student body composed of 99% Afro-American students.

Sara Landrum, actress

Craig Mitchell takes stage in popular Boston sequence of "El Hajj Malik" during performance in competition for the first American College Theatre Festival. The play has been performed in three versions at Dillard, and at Tulane and Xavier Universities. It is being included in a forthcoming anthology of black drama edited by playwright Ed Bullins.
